

FRANZJ DIGITAL FOOTPRINT

WHO IS FRANZJ?

Franzj is a CSGO trickshotter/content creator that is most known for his random videos on his Youtube channel and satire sarcasm on Twitter

FRANZJ DOES NOT UPLOAD VERY OFTEN AS HE IS IN POST SECONDARY

PROTECTION?

No licence plate smart man

Franzj has been actively using Steam Guard, a verification program to prevent his steam account from being hacked. He also privates almost all of his social media accounts

What does he want us to know?

Franzj wants us to know that he is a prolific trick shooter as well as goofy very random at times. Moreover, he also expresses his "cool" in ways like purposely almost losing games and then at the last round try very hard and get his team a win and also playing with clan members from different trickshotting groups like XVA and nohat.

Many people dislike him for this because he motivates and normalizes smurfing, an act where one de-ranks purposely in a game in order to play with less skilled players, and then trying hard and killing everyone making the match almost unplayable for everyone else. Likewise, others see him as a role model for the csgo community and are very die-hard fans of him and his content.

IS FRANZJ OVERSHARING?

Franzj is not an oversharer as the only thing that I could find personal on all his social media accounts are just his video game clips and a link to her girlfriend's Instagram which is private and his business email. His Snapchat is also private

He does, however, upload vlogs once in a while and he shows off where he is, which may be oversharing but he does not stream them and uploads them always very late so that there is a delay

ADVICE FOR FRANZJ

Franzj has recently started live-streaming his content-making process (gameplay of csgo and rust) on twitch and this can be harmful to him as many players hate him and can DDoS/dox him. Therefore, a solution for the matter could be using a VPN, turning off facecam, and turning on a minor stream delay so that hackers and exploiters will have a harder time tracking his game.

MORE ADVICE

Franzj started making content in 2013 and has not stopped ever since. Some of his older videos contain a little more information about him including BMX biking, making music videos, and showing his car drifting skills. It may be beneficial to unlist or private some of those videos now social media has been very widespread and easy to access to the outside world
